Description

When it comes to teaching numeracy and developing early years maths skills, the Water Tray Measuring Set is a splashingly good addition to any EYFS learning space. This 60-piece packed with everything from volume spoons to graduated cylinders, invites learners to dive into early years maths activities while fostering essential problem-solving and reasoning skills. And let's not forget: water play isn't just about splashing—it's about learning to count, measure, and explore mathematical concepts through play.
